COMMISSIONERS IN REGULAR SESSION

Commissioners' Court of Medina County met in regular session for the July term Monday, July 7, with all members present. The monthly accounts of the Commissioners and the county were received, examined and ordered paid.

Court heard the request of a number of citizens of the LaCoste area asking for a change in location of public road now running across the Adolph Tondre Estzle lands and the Henry Kauffman pasture lands. After due consideration it was agreed that the members of the Court meet with the land owners and citizens on the ground, on some day to be set later, and view the proposed change of location of road as requested.

The Fire and Lightning insurance in the amount of $1,000 on the contents of the courthouse to cover the period of July 3, 1945, to July 3, 1950, was ordered renewed by the Court.

Court heard the application of the State Health Department for a renewal of the County Health Program for the year, July 1, 1945, to June 30, 1946, on the same basis of contribution by State and County as for the previous year and voted unanimously to approve the application and continue the program for the next fiscal year.

Court instructed the County Judge to inform the Texas & New Orleans Railroad Company that Medina County prefers to continue the annual rental payment of $1.00 on parcel of land adjacent to the Company's stock pens in Hondo to be used for stock dipping vat and cleaning pens.

Court recessed subject to call of County Judge Rothe.

HCNDO TURNS OUT FIRST B-29 INSTRUCTOR CLASSES

Hondo Field, rounding a milestone in its new B-29 Flight Engineer training program, this week graduated the second group of combat returnee officers completing a five-weeks' Cruise Control course qualifying them as ground school instructors. The first class finished last week.

These battle-wise flyers are now ready to take their places in the AAF Training Command, of which Hondo is a unit, or elsewhere to train Flight Engineers for B-29 combat crews for the Pacific scrap.

While retaining their aerial ratings and still available for service anywhere, the curriculum at Hondo qualifies them to serve only as ground instructors in the vital cruise control phase and not as Flight Engineers.

Some of the newly-skilled officers will remain at Hondo as instructors of Flight Engineer cadets, while others will go to B-29 transition schools and elsewhere.

The first Hondo Field cadet classes will be graduated July 21 with Flight Engineer wings and commissions of second lieutenants or appointments as flight officers. Their final seven-weeks' course here is preceded by 19-weeks' B-29 engine maintenance and inspection training at Amarillo, Texas, and 10 weeks at pre-flight school.

GUINERY COURSE OPEN AT LAREDO TO PILOTS

Pilots with post-war ambitions in the Army Air Forces are eligible now for a new, highly specialized officers' flexible gunnery course especially designed as a "must" for flying officers who expect to serve with the AAF during peacetime years.

The 12-week course will be operated at the AAF Training Command's Central School for Flexible Gunnery, Laredo, Texas. The first class will begin July 30.

Officers from second lieutenant to general, who are members of the Regular Army or have been recommended for and desire commissions in the Regular Army are eligible provided they are rated pilots and have completed an operational tour of combat duty or are scheduled for one.

AAF RADIO PROGRAM TO BE HEARD SUNDAYS

"The Fighting AAF," official weekly documentary broadcast of the Army Air Forces, will be heard every Sunday from 7:30 to 8 p. m. over the American Broadcasting company.

For the past three months the program has occupied a Saturday afternoon spot.

"The Fighting AAF" consists of broadcasts from planes actually in combat as well as featured programs from Air Forces installations all over the globe.

DEPUTY C. O. Named

Col. James A. Ronin, veteran of 32 months in the South Atlantic, who came to Hondo Field for assignment as air inspector, has been named deputy post commander and coordination-compliance officer.

Col. Ronin, who was commander of the AAF base on Ascension Island in the South Atlantic for 32 months, is a command pilot with several thousand hours. He received his wings at Kelly Field in 1929.

NEW PLANE DEVELOPED

A new six-engine cargo plane, the XC-99, readily adaptable as a hospital plane or as a troop carrier with a capacity of several hundred soldiers, has been developed for the AAF by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. of San Diego, the War Department has announced.

The ship has a wing span of 230 feet, a length of 183 feet, is powered by six pusher-type engines, has a tricycle landing gear, pressurized cabins, and will have a service ceiling of 30,000 feet.

GEN. SPAATZ TO PACIFIC

Gen Carl A. Spaatz, who commanded USSTAF in Europe, has been designated to command the newly-established United States Strategic Air Force in the Pacific. Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson has announced.

The new organization was necessary because of the greatly increased size and activity of the B-29 effort. There will be two principal Air Forces comprising USSTAF in the Pacific, the Eighth Air Force, commanded by Lt. Gen. James A. Doolittle, and the Twentieth Air Force commanded by Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay.

CFTC BASES PUT NEARLY 10 MILLION INTO BONDS

Military and civilian personnel at Army airfields in the AAF Central Flying Training Command, of which Hondo is a unit, have poured $9,294,618.30 into the Seventh War Loan drive, according to Brig. Gen. M. F. Davis, commanding general of the CFTC.

This total was reached by June 15 and at that time represented 96.38 per cent of the quota set for the bases. CFTC controls AAF flying training fields in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico and Louisiana.

Hondo Field, which by this time has greatly exceeded its quota, then ranked among the leaders in the bond drive.

AAF SCHOOLS MOVED

Pre-flight school and AAF Administrative Officers' Candidate School at San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center have been transferred to Maxwell Field, Ala., as SAACC assumes its new role as a redistribution and convalescent center of the AAF Personnel Distribution Command.

MORE DOUBLE, TRIPLE-THREAT AIRMEN TURNED OUT

Hondo Army Air Field this week graduated another class of double and triple threat airmen, most of them soon to be skyteam members helping to pulverize Japan.

Already rated bombardier and bombardier-gunner, they received 13 weeks of aerial navigation training at Hondo, AAF Training Command installation, to earn the double or triple designation of bombardier-navigator or bombardier-navigator-gunner. All classmen previously received commissions of second lieutenants or appointments as flight officers upon completion of bombardiering school.

Silver navigator wings were awarded all the trainees in a stream-lined 20-minute ceremony at this busy airbase. Guest speaker, First Lt. Robert P. Bush, returned combat navigator with 50 missions now assigned to Hondo as billeting officer, stressed the necessity for close aerial teamwork to accomplish successful bombing missions. Lt. Bush, 23, of Dallas, who served in the European Theater of Operations, was introduced by Col. Robert B. Davenport, post commander.

These latest Hondo graduates were taught primarily the celestial phase of navigation, having had some previous training in other phases, which accounts for the shorter course given them as compared to the 24-week period for navigation cadets. They now await assignment.

WIFE OF TRAINING COMMAND CHIEF VISITS HAAF

Mrs. Barton K. Yount, wife of Lt. Gen. Barton K. Yount, commanding general of the AAF Training Command, headquarters at Fort Worth, made a visit to Hondo Field Wednesday to address the local chapter of the National Association of Army Air Forces Women.

A meeting of members was held in the Post Theater. Following her speaking appearance, Mrs. Yount was taken on an inspection tour of the chapter's activities on the field.

Mrs. Frank Oliphant, Jr., wife of Capt. Frank Oliphant, Jr., Personnel Services Officer, who is chairman of the local chapter, directed the tour.

Mrs. Yount, chairman of the Vvbs in the Training Command, came here in the interest of building a greater and more effective organization throughout the Command. The national organization is designed to carry out various volunteer social welfare, educational and hospital activities for the benefit of soldiers and their families.

TROPHY AWARDED HAAF FOR WAR BOND DRIVE PART

Col. Robert B. Davenport, HAAF post commander, this week on behalf of the airbase, received a trophy from Frank X. Vance, Hondo, chairman of the Medina County War Finance Committee which directed the county's campaign in the Seventh War Loan drive, in recognition of Hondo Field's contribution.

Trophies were sent to every county in Texas by the State War Loan drive headquarters, Dallas, to be awarded the most outstanding group or organization in each county's campaign.

The trophy, a wooden model of a jeep, with appropriate inscription, was shaped by convalescent American soldiers. The vehicle manufacturing company making this model of jeeps financed the project.

Hondo Field's military and civilian personnel exceeded the base's quota of $472,000, rolling up a total of $675,000.

Present for the presentation, made in the colonel's office at headquarters, were Colonel Davenport, Mr. Vance, Maj. Frank H. Sheffield, HAAF War Bond officer, and S. Sgt. Joe Keating, chief clerk in the War Bond office.

One new member, Lt. Robert Bush, was accepted into the club. Awards were given to Lions Bruno Schweers, M. O. Duncan, Tony Engbrock, and Edgar Stiegler for securing new members during Marvin Jones month. Keys were also awarded to Edgar Stiegler and Tony Engbrock. A plaque was given to Edgar Stiegler as the outstanding Lion of the year.

The new officers were installed by Rev. C. R. Brewster. The officers for the coming year are as follows:

The meeting, presided over by Fritz Belschner, was opened in the usual manner, following which the speaker of the evening, Capt. Peter F. Provenza, told of some of his combat experiences.

At the next meeting of the Lions, July 11, the committees for the new year will be announced.

FARM-TO-MARKET ROADS TO BE IMPROVED

Three post-war projects affecting farm-to-market roads in Medina County are planned under a new program by the Texas State Highway Department, according to information received Tuesday from County Judge Arthur H. Rothe. The three projects in this county are based on the following qualifications: traffic count, school bus and mail routes. Improvements will include basing and black-topping.

They are: From Hondo toward Yancey, 8.4 miles; from U. S. highway No. 81 north of Devine north toward Chicon Lake, approximately 5 miles; from 8.4 miles south of Hondo to Yancey, approximately 7.3 miles.

Additional projects for farm-to-market road improvement in the County are planned, Judge Rothe said. This is the county's share in a post-war program in which Texas will receive ten million dollars a year for a period of three years out of a federal appropriation for farm-to-market road improvement. The state will match this amount, totaling sixty million dollars. The only expense to the County will be purchase of necessary right-of-way and other incidentals. The State Department will maintain the roads after completion, we were informed.

USO NEWS NOTES

A Year in Retrospect

Looking back over the past year it has been discovered that from July, 1944, through June, 1945, 242,071 servicewomen, servicemen and wives have passed through the doors of the Hondo USO Club. Of many had questions which were answered by our Senior Hostesses. Others wanted various services, which were given by everyone concerned and in a pleasant manner.

A USO Club is not a one or two-man organization, but rather a cooperative undertaking in which the local people and those assigned to the club work together to provide a "home away from home" for the military. The watchword is "service" which shall be maintained at all times.

Of the above mentioned number entering the club, approximately 25,000 to 30,000 people have participated in group activities. Many more have made individual use of our facilities.

Looking ahead there still is work to do and we cannot stop now. We still have troops in both theaters of operations, plus troops in this country. As citizens of these United States, we still have a responsibility in the service of the military. May God continue to help us in doing this big job well.

Saturday, July 14

Where will you be on Saturday evening, July 14? Why not come to the club and play Bingo at our special party? Fifteen games will be played with the following prizes to be given: free telephone call home, two watermelons, theater tickets, war stamps and credit slips which can be used at the Snack Bar. The games get under way at 8:30 p. m.

Prior to the Bingo games, the weekly Sing-Song will be held, with Dell Scott at the piano. Dell starts the "clambake" off at 7 p. m.

Sunday, July 15

Again as on every other Sunday, the Social Hour at the club will be held from 3 until 4 o'clock.

Shellcraft will be featured from 2 until 6 o'clock the same afternoon. Come in and try your hand at this type of craft.

HONDO MAN SERVING ABOARD

U. S. S. NEVADA

ABOARD THE USS NEVADA IN THE PACIFIC.—Jerome H. Decker, seaman 2-c, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Decker, Hondo, Texas, is serving aboard this battleship which has written a blazing chapter in the history of World War II.

The only battleship to get under way during the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor, she cleared the blazing USS Arizona and through a sea of flaming oil, passed by the USS Oklahoma. Nearing the Pearl Harbor entrance channel, she avoided Jap plane attempts to sink her and block the channel, by running aground in shallow water.

Raised from the bottom, she put in at a west coast for repairs in April, 1942. From here the Nevada supported troop landing operations at Attu, and then steamed to European waters to participate in the Normandy invasion. After helping silence the German shore batteries, she steamed into the Mediterranean for the invasion of southern France in August, 1944.

After refitting in New York, the Nevada returned to the Pacific where her guns covered the operation against Iwo Jima.

She is now older than many of her crew. Her keel was laid down Nov. 4, 1912, in the Fore River Shipyard, Quincy, Mass., and she was commissioned at the Charlestown Navy Yard, March 12, 1916.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Biggest Air Raids on Jap Targets Coincide With Invasion of Borneo; Vinson Outlines U.S. Postwar Plan

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

BIGGEST RAIDS:

On Jap Targets

Nearly 600 Superfortresses, in a record raid on the Jap homeland, dropped some 4,000 tons of incendiary bombs on four of the empire's industrial cities. The targets included Kure, Shimonoseki, Ube and Kumamoto. Kure is Japan's greatest naval base on the inland sea; Ube is a principal coal center and rates first in the empire's production of magnesium; Kumamoto is a military training center.

None of these cities had been previously fire-bombed. This raid brought to 22 the number of Jap cities to be scorched by incendiary attacks. Up to this time Tokyo had suffered greatest from B-29 incendiary attacks, the heaviest B-29 fire raid having been made on the Nip capital on May 23, a raid in which 550 of the huge bombers participated.

Shimonoseki, with a normal population of 196,000, is a vital bottleneck of Nipponese rail transportation. Much of the coal required for the war plants of Honshu must pass through Shimonoseki, which is the southern terminus of Honshu's railroads.

RECONVERSION:

Vinson's Postwar Plan

War Mobilizer Fred M. Vinson, without promising that Japan will fall soon, has announced his postwar economic charter, which he says must be ready to swing into action the day Japan falls—or before.

When V-J Day arrives, states Vinson in his report to the nation, the fewer war workers that will have to be absorbed, the smoother will be the transition. His plan immediately following V-J Day calls for an immediate reduction in taxes, for industry and individuals, which will increase purchasing power. Proper use of the country's vast reservoir of liquid assets—230 billion dollars or three times the 1939 total, will be a self-starter for postwar economy if planned right.

Other points in his program call for federal aid to foster small business and encourage the birth of new business; vigorous anti-monopoly program; reduction of industrial strife and a higher wage policy of industry; blanket indorsement of Bretton Woods; expansion of unemployment compensation; raise standard of living for the farmers; and fiscal policy to maintain economy at or near full employment.

PEACE PACT:

Senate Action

A United Nations charter, which envisioned the world's hopes for an enduring peace, was presented to the senate by President Truman, who appeared before that body personally. Little opposition was at first apparent to the new world league and an overwhelming majority of the senators seemed in favor of its acceptance.

Fifty nations whose representatives had gathered in San Francisco framed the charter which is designed to prevent aggression by force. Approval of the document by the U. S. senate, Britain, Russia, China, France and 23 other nations will establish the new world league for peace.

President Truman's historic plea for acceptance of the charter was made where, 26 years ago, Woodrow Wilson stood to plead, unavailingly, for a similar cause.

The document was flown from San Francisco to Washington and delivered to the President by Alger Hiss, state department official, and secretary of the world peace conference.

MUSHROOMING DEBT:

America's national debt was a little under 1 per cent of the country's national wealth a century ago—to day it is 65 per cent, according to a study by Northwestern National Life Insurance company. The average per capita share of the national debt is $307, compared with $2.77 a century ago.

The enormously increased proportion of public debt to national resources points to the need for vigorously maintaining business activity.

ANOTHER GOAL:

Borneo's Oil

Australian troops, with supporting American and Dutch units, all led by General MacArthur landed three miles east of Balikpapan, Borneo's oil center, the richest oil center of the Dutch East Indies. This was the third operation in Borneo by Australian troops since May 1.

General MacArthur who exposed himself under fire on Borneo.

The landing was made after the heaviest naval bombardment of the entire Pacific war. The naval and aerial bombardment continued for 10 days before the troops went ashore, and during this time cruisers and destroyers paraded up and down the invasion coast, blasting everything that was seen to move.

Balikpapan is 320 miles down the coast from Tarakan island, where the initial Borneo landing was made.

Allied troops, supported by tanks, fought through groups of Japs to the top of an important ridge. The Japs fled northeast in every type of vehicle they could lay their hands on.

Landing losses were light, and resulted mainly from mortar, small arms and artillery fire.

The importance of taking Balikpapan is clear from this: In peacetime its plants produced 2,500,000 gallons of gas weekly.

This landing in Borneo, according to General MacArthur, secured the domination of Borneo and split the East Indies, virtually completing Allied tactical control of the entire S. W. Pacific.

More than 300 ships were in the Allied invasion fleet, which included the U. S. 7th fleet and Australian and Netherland units.

OPA EXTENDED:

Agriculture Gets WFA

Price controls of the OPA were extended for another year when President Truman signed the bill at Kansas City, just in time to prevent the powers of the Price Control and Stabilization act from automatically expiring. The necessary papers were flown to the President, who was returning from San Francisco.

In renewing the OPA, President Truman declared that stabilization controls must be continued into the postwar period. "We must always remember that it is the war, not these agencies, which is responsible for these shortages and hardships," he emphasized.

Another important move to improve overall production and distribution of food was the placing of the War Food administration directly under the control of the new secretary of agriculture, Clinton Anderson. In commenting on this action, the President stated that he "was glad congress did not disturb arrangements for co-ordinating the stabilization and reconversion programs, and for settling the differences among the agencies."

DANGER:

In September

With the "Mighty Seventh" war loan drive ended, if the usual practice is followed, September will see thousands of bondholders rushing to the bank to cash in on their "E" bonds when they fall due.

During campaigns, few bonds are offered for redemption, but after the campaign is over an "organized" movement gets under way to redeem those that are 60 days old. If previous figures are any indications it is to be expected that 50 per cent of the bonds will be turned in at banks before they mature—most of them during September.

More Metal Freed

The War Production board announced that it was freeing all available supply of metal for civilian goods—that is metal that is left over after all war needs have been met. It also began to scrap its priority system for all but munitions items.

This does not mean that civilian production can begin full production. Many items will not be on sale for another year, and few will become plentiful within the next five or six years.

HOME FRONT:

House Buyers Revolt

War-boomed realty inflation prices are being punctured on the West coast by a buying public that has become choosier and harder to sell. This buyers' rebellion of homes has resulted in prices in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland falling from 10 to 15 per cent and with little interest being shown except when bargains are offered. So far Seattle is selling at peak war prices, when sales are made.

Realtors state that the buyers' rebellion is not caused by war plant lay-offs, but rather by the fact that purchasers of homes want a new postwar model and are not willing to invest much capital in prewar style houses. Publicity given to the "dream house of the future," has done much to lower buyers' demand for inflated priced older homes.

Dealers are upset because they believe that bright forecasts are premature and the public is being led into false hopes. They cite the announcement of Henry Kaiser's announcement of an ideal home for $5,000. They say this same house would have to be sold from $7,500 to $8,000, so buyers are waiting and prices are returning to normal.

GOVERNORS MEET:

Charter Approved

The 37th annual governors' conference was held at Mackinac Island, Mich., to help win adoption of the world peace charter framed at San Francisco by 50 participating nations, and to deliberate on post-war problems. The conference lasted three days.

Forty-three state and territorial governors were present. Among the speakers was Comdr. Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, who played a key role on the American delegation to San Francisco.

Governor Dewey of New York, at a press conference, urged speedy adoption of the charter without reservations.

CABINET:

Five New Members

With the appointment of James F. Byrnes as secretary of state and the swearing in of four new appointments, President Truman's official family has in fact as well as name become reconverted.

Byrnes has had a varied public career. He was elected to the house of representatives in 1911 and served until 1926, when he failed in a try for the senate. He was elected to the senate in 1930 and during his second term resigned to become a member of the Supreme court, leaving in 1942 to head the nation's war agencies.

Others who have taken over cabinet duties include Clinton P. Anderson, until now a congressman from New Mexico, who became secretary of agriculture; Lewis B. Swollenback, former senator from Washington and former federal district court judge, who was sworn in as secretary of labor; Robert E. Hannegan of St. Louis, chairman of the Democratic National committee, who became postmaster general, and Tom Clark, an assistant attorney general from Texas, who assumed the post of attorney general.

Anderson, upon taking office, promised to bring about an improvement in the food situation.

FOOD CROPS:

Frost Factor

While the pea canners have been able to keep their promise that they would process more than in 1944, other canners, hampered by not so favorable growing conditions may fall short of their goal. As late as April, all processors believed that they would have record runs.

Apparently the canners will reach their allotment on canned fruits, but if they do, the winter supply of fruits will be short. It looks instead as if some fresh fruits will be put on the market at the expense of the canned items.

Fresh vegetables are now getting easier to find and it begins to look as if the potatoes, beans and rice for storage will be adequate. California, with one-fifth the country's tomato acreage, expects a normal crop, while Indiana with 95,000 acres is having its trouble.

West coast's fruit canning has gotten off to a good start and prospects are good there, while the middle west and eastern states will have little to offer canners.

It is still too early to be sure about the corn crop. This will depend upon the first frost date.

Nazi Influence Remains To Vex Allied Control

Indoctrination of Youth and Lethargy of Mass Of People Obstacle to Efforts to Reconstitute Beaten Nation.

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

(This is the first of two articles by Mr. Baukhage revealing how the results of Hitler's "planned terror" are making it hard for the Americans to "run" Germany.)

The hearings of the Kilgore subcommittee on war mobilization concluded in the last weeks of congress and are to be resumed next September. Testimony before the committee has revealed certain "secret documents" showing plans on the part of various German industrialists to subsidize a Nazi underground party.

The purpose of the hearings, Senator Kilgore's associates tell me, is to prepare the United States against a future recrudescence of German militarism.

If such underground organizations exist and continue to exist it will be necessary to hunt them out of their hiding places if we can. This is going to be especially difficult since some of those hiding places undoubtedly will be on foreign territory and it may not be easy to reach across the frontiers of nations not too unfriendly to the Nazi - Fascist idea.

Meanwhile there is an immediate problem to be faced and that is the practical task of "running Germany," something which it is generally admitted is going to be harder than we thought.

There are many baffling factors of a purely physical aspect which enter into the scheme but I do not intend to deal with them here. I want to talk about the psychological problem which is recognized by trained observers on the scene but perhaps not as fully understood as it might be.

It may be recalled that some months ago there appeared in these columns an exposition of the organization and the indoctrination of the German people and the integration of all elements in Germany into a single unit, created for the purpose of waging total war. This dealt with the positive steps taken in the training of the youth and conversion or compulsion exerted over such of the older generation as were sufficiently pliable. In this and a succeeding article I propose to deal with what might be called a program of negation since its purpose was to destroy the quality of resistance to Nazism on the part of those too old or too stubborn to accept, actively or passively, the Nazi regime. It is what I have alluded to as the program of "planned terror."

Nazification Extended To All Classes

First, it must be remembered that since the Nazis were in full power for about 12 years and the real indoctrination of the German youth began at about the age of 12, there might be presumed to remain a group of middle-aged Germans who escaped the full blight of Nazi indoctrination. Normally they would be the ones most likely to offer collaboration with the American or other officials and most amenable to an acceptance of democratic methods and beliefs.

Of course, there are some such. On the other hand, although this group who by age or inclination were less favorable to Nazification, the majority have not escaped the effects of Nazi rule. These men were brought up in a more or less normal 20th century atmosphere, regimented to some extent, it is true and with the long tradition of German militarism behind them, but at root a kindly, businesslike, churchgoing folk whose evils were environmental and not necessarily hereditary as they proved when they left home and settled on our shores.

They are the ones in Germany whom we blame for failing to arise and overthrow the Hitler regime, for accepting it and its inhumanities. We find them now, according to most of the persons who have visited Germany, befuddled, submissive, yet resentful; but honestly rejecting all personal, individual responsibility for war guilt of Germany and the atrocities of the Nazis. For the most part they have proved about as valuable in assisting in the governing of their country as a large piece of slightly rancid dough.

Red Raskall

By CLARK McMEEKIN

W.N.U. SERVICE

THE STORY THUS FAR: Lark Shannon is heartbroken when she learns that her horse, Madoc, is to be sold. Her father, Rector Shannon, had died recently, leaving the place in debt. Bethel North, near neighbor to the Shannons, held a note against Rector Shannon, and the sale of the horse, she said, would clear the note. David North, Bethel's son, and Lark's childhood sweetheart, arrives in England from America, and asks Lark if she would like to go to America as his wife, but expresses no love for her, merely saying he is "fond of her." Jagers, Bethel's husband, drives Lark to the dock and she boards the ship, Tempora, expecting David to join her. Lark receives a note saying he had sailed.

CHAPTER IV

In those last hurried days of preparation at home Jagers had said so often, "You feel strange with the boy now, Lark, but by the end of the trip you'll have grown close to one another. There'll be moonlight on the voyage and long sunny days together. David's got a wide head on his shoulders. It's a good plan, that one he talked of, to have the Captain marry you toward the end of the crossing. It's better than rushing the marriage now. You'll grow more close together and more understanding this way, and it'll be a sweeter, sounder thing, like crossing a brook from stepping-stone to stepping-stone instead of in a leap."

Presently a little cabin boy came out of the door which led to the galley and blew what was evidently a repetition of the mess-call, for Lark's special benefit and for that of the young couple who stood together on the forward deck.

The couple went below, and after a moment Lark followed them. When she reached the dining-room the two who had entered just ahead of her were seating themselves with the ship's officers and other first class passengers at the main table under the portrait of King George the Third. The gentlemen at the main table rose courteously to accept the apologies which the two young people made for their tardiness.

In the confusion Lark hesitated for a moment in the doorway, her eyes making quick note of the group at the table of honor. There was a florid middle-aged man, obviously the father of the girl, a youngish man in clerical black with a listless-looking wife beside him, a comfortable, stoutish British couple, two little old ladies, and a foppish little man in blue broadcloth who stared at her with admiring patronage until the Captain said stiffly, "Pray be seated, Mr. Dawes."

Big Dan spoke loudly to his companions, "An uncommon good-looking, that last wench. I seen her by her lonesome on deck most the night. Now if I didn't have no strings tied to me. . . ." He winked in Minnie's direction as Lark blushed with embarrassment and Captain Walesby rapped sharply for silence.

"Ain't my Dan a caution now?" Minnie laughed and grinned with appreciation of the blond giant's wit. With great gusto she swabbed her plate clean with a crust and forked a hunk of pork onto it.

Minnie, having gobbled up her meat by now, looked around for the platter, but the steward had passed it to the men's table to be emptied. With a philosophical shrug she reached over and forked an unfinished piece off one of her girls' plates.

"I'm buying it offen you," she said casually and flipped a farthing across the table. The coin rolled on the floor and the girl dived for it as the others laughed. Only Lark wasn't amused.

"Maybe she wanted the meat herself," she said impulsively. "She's hardly eaten a bite."

"Don't take as much to nourish her as me," Minnie's tone was completely composed. "I need more victuals than most folks to keep my weight up. Bein' a circus fat lady's a job like any other. That toll-gate I run don't do more'n bring in pin-money. I got my perkins an' use 'em when I want to." Very deliberately she leaned across the table and speared the uneaten pork off Lark's own plate.

Lark's temper flared suddenly. "No, you don't! That's mine and I mean to eat it!" Quickly she forked the meat back and began cutting it up.

Minnie threw back her head and laughed delightedly. "Spirit, and plenty of it! The filly's not broke to harness yet. We've got Mistress Hoighty Toighty among us, girls. The Duchess of Horse, I'll be bound. Ain't that a belly-laugh, now?" She pushed back her chair, rose, and slapped Lark on the back with genial familiarity.

Outside the saloon doorway a little man stood waiting. Lark saw at once that it was the groom who had been in charge of the horses last night. She smiled at him.

"My name's Busby, Miss," he said humbly, "and I've been hoping for the chance of a word with you. I wanted to thank you again. It's due to you that we got our big stallion safely aboard. He's a handful and no mistake." He chuckled proudly.

"I love horses," Lark said. "I've handled them all my life. There's no mischief in that beast. It was just that he was panicked. He let me catch his halter strap right at once. It's plain that he's a very fine horse. What are his blood-lines?"

"I've not had a look at his papers yet," Busby stood twirling his cap in his gnarled hands. "Master Jarrod Terraine just bought him from Mr. Galphine yesterday. His rightful name's Lancer, but I've took a notion to call him Red Raskall, like you did. A pet name's good luck in racing stables, you know."

Lark said, "That's fine, Busby. He's a horse to be proud of."

"Mistress Dana, the master's daughter, took a rare fancy to him at the fair yesterday and egged her pa into the deal."

"He looks much like a horse my father owned," Lark commented. "Our Madoc had Spanker blood in him and this horse has much the same conformation."

"This Raskall's the prize of the string my folks are taking back to Virginia," Busby said. "They've a grand racing stable there. Great ways, I understand its name is. . . ."

"This Raskall's the prize of the string."

Would you like to have a glimpse of the way I've got our beasts bedded down?" he asked shyly.

Lark nodded and followed Busby down the long twisting passage that led at last to a steep ladder which descended to the hold. Here the stalls had been set up, slatted overhead and with neat divisions of braided netting to separate the beasts.

The other groom, a Moroccan, was watering the gray Martindale and the roan yearling which Lark had noticed last night.

These two, Busby explained, belonged to Mr. Plascutt Dawes.

By mid-day dinner Minnie seemed in high good humor. She joked with Big Dan at the adjoining table and ignored Captain Walesby's reproving glances. She even made an unsuccessful attempt to bring Lark into the general badinage.

"Cheer up," Clelia whispered, "she's just teasing you; smile, Lark!"

Lark tried, hard as she could, but she felt like a fish out of water. She was feeling blue and dispirited over David's seemingly casual desertion of her. She missed Jagers and the friendly everyday chatter of the neighbors about the parish doings. It was a relief when, the meal finally over, Mr. Swalters approached her confidently, and asked if she would care to promenade the deck with him.

He was a pleasant, friendly young man, Lark thought, and her usual good spirits soon returned as she listened to his gossip of ship-board life.

"Minnie's crossed with us before," he told her. "Every now and then she comes over for the Irish fair circuit and takes back a group of bound girls with her to add to her earnings. She's a great tease, but her heart's as big as her body."

"I don't believe it!" Lark remonstrated. "Why, I think she's dreadfully, outrageously common and vulgar!"

"Most circus people are," Clink said knowingly. "You've lived a very sheltered life I imagine, Miss Shannon. I'm worried about what you're going to do, if you land before Mr. North does. Minnie told me she thought he'd sailed on the Runnymede, but that's a slower ship than ours. . . . Please don't think me curious or impertinent."

"I think it's kind of you to take an interest. I've the address of a friend of Mr. North's. She'll let me teach at her school, though I'm not very well educated. You see my only real talent is for riding. Perhaps I could be a jockey."

Clink laughed politely, looking a little shocked. "You're a plucky girl," he said. "That's a good joke, by Jove!"

Lark smiled at him. "I feel much better than I did. You've cheered me up a lot."

"I'm glad of that, most awfully glad. We must walk together whenever I can get away from my duties. Your friend who put you aboard, Mr. Jagers North, was that his name, asked me to keep an eye out for you, you know."

What a nice young man he was, Lark thought; of course he had none of David's charm or good looks, but having someone like him take an interest would help, quite a lot.

One day, the third Sunday of the voyage, Captain Walesby announced at breakfast that he would conduct church services on deck. There was great confusion in the women's saloon as all the girls unpacked their Sabbath finery. Lark dug down deep into her portmanteau searching for her good blue bombazine dress. She couldn't find it. It just wasn't there.

It was immediately after the service that Busby waylaid Lark. He had a worried and anxious look about him.

"I don't like to trouble you, Miss," he said soberly, "but the horse is sick; really sick. It ain't just colic, like the master says. I've changed the blanket over and over again and it's sweated through in no time. It's lung inflammation, and that's a fact, Miss. It's serious. I've seen it often enough afore to know that."

"Lancer's sick?" Lark asked sharply. "Oh, no, not my Red Raskall!"

"No, ma'am, it ain't Lancer. It's our mare, Penelope. Squire Terraine and me have been a-working over her the live-long night. Maybe you'd come down to the stalls with me and give me a word of advice, say what you'd do if it was your own Madoc, you've spoke of so often."

"Indeed I will," Lark said with warm sympathy, and following the groom past the neat little temporary tackroom and the dark cornered enclosure where the bales of hay were stacked shoulder-high. Minnie, standing back in the shadow, grinned at them and said, "Seen my Dan anywhere?"

Busby shook his head and led Lark through the wicket into the fenced-off stall where the mare stood, sweat-drenched and bloody.

Lark laid a gentle hand on the drooping neck. "Poor Penelope," she said softly. "She's as sick a horse as ever I've seen. She'll have to be bled, won't she?"

"Indeed she will, young lady," Plascutt Dawes had entered the stall and stood there behind Lark with his shrewd little eyes fixed on her. She frowned a little and said anxiously, "Can't we do something? Does the Squire know how sick a mare he's got?"

"Jarrod Terraine's a nincompoop," Mr. Dawes said with asperity. "He's trying to keep up the pretense that his beast has nought the matter with it but colic, when the fact that it's lung fever is clear as light. I've known Terraine, boy and man, for forty years and he's never yet acknowledged himself wrong. Take this bet of ours, now; fifty pounds on our imported stallions. Why, this Thunder Boy of mine, he's a wonder horse. . . ."

"Our Raskall will beat him, Mr. Dawes," Busby interrupted with surprising spirit. "Give me a couple of weeks to work him out when we land and that's all I ask."

"Pooh, sirrah, you overestimate your nag!" Plascutt, who, at another time, would have scorned to enter into discussion with a groom, was now feeling expansive and talkative under the stimulus of his neighbor's bad luck.

"Tattersall's stands behind my gray Martindale, and your horse is only a pick-up at a county fair. It wouldn't surprise me a mite if his blood-line papers were forged. . . . Why I'd raise my bet to a hundred pounds, to five hundred. I'd bet my whole plantation, even my slaves, and the thoroughbred horses in my racing stable."

"You would, would you, sir?" Big, lumbering Jarrod had come in quietly, tiptoeing as if he were in a sickroom. "Well, I wouldn't take you up on any such bet. I'd wager my lands and even my house on this race between Lancer and Thunder Boy, but I'd no more bet my slaves and horses than I'd bet my daughter, Dana. Live flesh ain't a rightful thing to gamble with, against the Ten Commandments, like bowing down to graven images, or some such. I'll bet Greatways, by Capri-corn, but neither my horses nor Negroes against your Dawes Ferry. Your place'll make a nice enough house for my overseer Barnes or one of the tenants. . . . You can't bluff me, sir! Want to have it writ down, lawyer-wise?"

"I never bluff," Plascutt said haughtily. "Such a thing would be beneath my dignity. And gentlemen's sporting wagers are never reduced to writing. My word, sir, is sufficient." Plascutt turned abruptly and left them.

Jarrold threw back his head and bawled with laughter. "Well, young lady, I guess you heard me call that little popinjay's bluff, didn't you?" He eyed Lark with great friendliness, as if she shared the joke and entered into his game. When she smiled at him with amusement, he continued, "I'll bet a golden guinea you're the young miss my groom's been babbling so much about. He says you're a first class horsewoman yourself and that, spite of the fact that you're a parson's daughter, you know all the fine points of the turf."

RECENT outpourings of the populace at large have shown one thing beyond all argument. The public would rather have a contest—than class.

For example, big league baseball has lost over 400 of its best men to war service—such players as Dickey, Gordon, Chandler, Walker, Cooper, Joe DiMaggio, Tex Hughson, Bob Feller—on and on and on.

Thousands thought that the absence of these stars would turn away the crowds. But the closer and more interesting pennant races have more than filled out the long lines at the turnstiles.

You may recall the old days when the Yankees were 18 games in front around July or early August. In those days the American league pennant race was over just about when it started. There was no contest. Last season the Cardinals had the National league race practically won back in April. Once again—no contest.

Grantland Rice

The recent derbies have had no Johnstown, Whirlaway or Count Fleet. But they offered contests—and brought out the greatest crowds in racing history as far as the United States is concerned. The public wants to see a good rough and tumble scrap for the top—an interesting turmoil where more than one can win. Even with the cold, wet weather of May and early June, the crowds have proved this point in baseball.

A Different Boom

The new sporting boom, now getting under way, is entirely different from the boom that followed the First World war. That was the boom and the era of stars—known as the Golden Age of sport.

This new boom will be all different. In the first place, it will have far more contestants through the army and navy sporting program. In the second place, it will all out-class those days in the matter of public interest and public attendance. For us this has been a far rougher and more devastating war than the first world upheaval knew. Then we went to war in April, 1917, and we were through in November, 1918. That was only a sprint by comparison. But this war began in December, 1941, and it is still going full blast. The casualty list of this war will triple the casualty list of the number one affair.

The tremendous sports program which army and navy are working on is dead sure to bring in a star crop of baseball players, football players and boxers from the younger set.

"These army and navy ball players will have the advantage of good training and fit condition," Carl Hubbell says. "That can make a big difference. Also there ought to be enough to go around so that all of us can improve."

Dave Ferriss and Al Benton have proved Hubbell's slant. Coaches Greasy Neale and Steve Owen feel the same way about it in regard to football. So do the college coaches who expect to get their share of these veterans.

Commissioner Chandler has promised to give thousands of extra kids a chance to play baseball who have been shut out before through lack of playing space. It has already been proven clearly that this country needs more players than it needs extra spectators. This idea may not strike every promoter as a happy thought, but it will be that way in the future.

In the meanwhile the first rush of the boom is already here. The ball parks are proving it.

Major Test Case

Hank Greenberg will be 35 years old on January 1, 1946. He has been out of baseball action four seasons and before he moved into war service he had known 10 years of big league service. From now on Tiger Hank's play will be followed with greater interest than the performance of any other player now in baseball. This not only includes every baseball fan, but also every veteran service athlete who hopes to return to some form of sport.

Joe Louis and Billy Conn are notable examples. So are many other boxers—many other ball players—and many other football stars. Greenberg at least will give us part of the answer as to what four years of athletic inaction will do.

I talked with the tall captain just before he was given his army release. Weighing 195 pounds, he looked fit for anything.

"I only wish I knew the answer," he said, "but I believe I have at least two more seasons left in my system. It will take a little time to get going again, to get my eye on the ball. I hope not too long. But I am in good shape physically, although my legs will need some seasoning. It will be good to get back in time to have at least a chance to pick up the old game. Another year would have been too late."

More fortunate than many of the boys who, when inducted into the Army, are placed among strangers, Jimmy Rogers, Harry Charles Mueller, R. A. Weber, Jr., Rollie Eckhart, Harold Hartman and Billy Montgomery, the first five of whom were classmates at Hondo High, but are recent inductees, have all been sent in a group to Camp Fannin, Texas, for 14 weeks of basic training for service in the Infantry branch of the Army. They left Hondo on June 14 and among other things welcomed by them from the home folks is the news from home which they read in this paper and share with each other.

Mrs. Wm. F. Tompkins Jr. and small sons, Billy and Tommy, are now making their home here with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Theo. B. Knopp. They formerly lived in San Antonio. Her sister, the former Margaret Ann Knopp, will leave on July 15th with her husband, Captain John J. Braham III, of Barstow, Texas, for a visit in Washington, D. C., and New York.

Mrs. Fritz Hartman and daughter, Miss Lucile Hartman, were pleasant callers at this office Wednesday. Mrs. Hartman sends the paper to her son, Pvt. Harold F. Hartman, who is now one of the trainees at Camp Fannin, Texas.

Batterton, is completing his final weeks training at Officers Candidate School at Montgomery, Ala. Following his graduation he will be stationed at Hondo Army Air Field and he and his wife, the former Merle McCall, will make their home here also for the duration while Lt. Beach, a navigator and graduate of Hondo Navigation School, is overseas. Lt. Beach has completed 35 missions in the Pacific area, 17 of which were flying over "the hump" to China while he was stationed in India. He is now on an island in the Pacific.

Sgt. Raoul Barrientes, after over four years service in the Army Tank Corps during which time he participated in seven pitched battles, from Africa to Germany, arrived home from Fort Sam Houston with a smile on his face, an honorable discharge in his pocket and thankfulness in his heart that he is still alive and sound. His Uncle Rudy gave him a welcome home party at his La Palms, and he and his wife and baby are spending some time with the wife's people at LaCoste.

of the angels of God over one sin-

That is true of individuals not only among the church membership. An offered in every church service. You

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. ALBERT SCHNEIDER

Our deceased friend, Mrs. Frieda
Schneider, nee Etter, a loving daughter of Mr. August Etter and his deceased wife, Mrs. Louise Etter, nee Fritz, was born on August 29, 1894, near Castroville, Medina County, Texas. Here at Castroville she was baptized by her pastor, the Rev. W.
Hummel; here in the home of her parents she spent her childhood and school days attending Public School at Rio Medina. When she reached confirmation age, she was instructed and confirmed by her pastor, the Rev. Walter Kralik, in the Castro-ville Lutheran Church. She grew up an obedient daughter to her kind parents. When she was 8 years of age she lost her dear mother, who died on Dec. 29, 1902; but two years later God again provided her home with a kind step-mother, whom she loved and respected until her end.
When Mrs. Schneider grew up to womanhood she was married to Mr.
Albert Schneider at San Antonio, Texas. She lived her entire happy married life, in fact her whole life, in the Castroville community. God blessed her union with four children, one girl and three boys, namely, Lo-rina, Louis, Albert and Alfred. One son, Albert, is serving his country as a soldier in the war overseas, and naturally could not be present for his dear mother's funeral. Mrs.
Schneider was a faithful member of Zion's Lutheran Congregation. She was very active in attending divine services and also the Adult Bible class, being in her class the last Sunday of her life. She was also a kind member of the Ladies' Aid Society, also being present at the last meeting in June. Mrs. Schneider enjoyed fairly good health during her life, until about two years ago when she began ailing more or less. On July 5 she visited Dr. Williamson for an examination. The doctor saw at once that she was in a serious condition and she was taken to the Santa Rosa Hospital in San Antonio at once.
Here everything that medical skill could do was gladly and willingly done for her, but all to no avail. God had willed it otherwise. She was called out of this life on Saturday, July 7, 1945, at 2:30 a. m. She leaves to mourn her husband, Mr.
Albert Schneider, the above mentioned four children, her father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. August Etter of Castroville, Texas, one brother, Mr. Fritz Etter, Galveston,
Texas; one sister, Mrs. Ella Tondre,
Castroville, Texas; one half-sister,
Mrs. Hulda Schneider, also of Castroville, and many other kind relatives and warm friends. She had reached the age of 50 years, 10 months and seven days.

Funeral services were held from the Tondre Funeral Home in Castro-ville on Monday, July 9, 1945, beginning at 9:30 a. m. and were continued in Zion's Lutheran Church, with interment in the new Castroville
Lutheran cemetery. The Rev. A. H.
Falkenberg, her pastor, officiated.
The Lutheran choir helped beautify the services by singing appropriate songs. Pallbearers were the following: Mr. William Wurzbach, Mr. A.
C. Wurzbach, Mr. Martin Schneider,
Mr. Fritz Tondre, Mr. Oscar Etter and Mr. Adolph Etter. May she rest in peace.—A. H. F.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feet constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

LABOR LEGISLATION
FORCED BY STRIKES

WASHINGTON.—A fair-trade-practices bill for labor (Richberg) is supposed to lie around congress until the coming expected wave of union strikes generates an irresistible demand for its adoption—then it, or something like it, is passed. This, indeed, is the sotto voce program.

Such delay may sound like a back-end way to handle an expected national crisis, because the bill proposes to avert the strikes by providing machinery for just settlements, not only in the public interest, but in the long-range interest of the unions. Yet you can see what is beginning to happen to the legislation in the probable absence of Alabama's

Donald Richberg

Senator Lister Hill from the list of sponsors.

This was supposed to be a four-senator bill, introduced by two Democrats and two Republicans; in fact, the same ones who sponsored the declaration of senatorial peace principles, Ball, Burton, Hatch—and Hill. But on this bill, Hill says he was "just too busy" to fill out the B2H2 leadership, so it became B2H1. Most people think the real reason is that the CIO was instrumental in Hill's recent re-election.

The "too busy" treatment is likely to be applied generally to the proposal, because nothing in its announced purposes can very well be openly opposed by the unions, or anyone.

Basically, the bill would require the arbitrary unions to moderate their "public-be-damned" policy. Disruptions of public service, such as in the Fifth avenue bus slowdown in New York recently, where the drivers just decided to run an hour or so late, as well as strikes in public utilities, milk deliveries, etc., would be prevented by judicial compulsory arbitration.

This is in the sound interest of the unions, because all now are suffering from the conspicuous public-be-damned policy of a few unions.

The bill was not written by manufacturers or employers, but by an old union lawyer, Donald Richberg, who composed the most successful labor law ever enacted, the Railway Labor act. Under it the railway brotherhoods have prospered better than other labor unions, and without strikes.

The senatorial sponsors are not anti-labor people either, but somewhat left-leaning. The way they described their general purposes is this:

ONE BOARD PLAN

They would break up the competitive handling of labor through various government agencies now, and put all conciliation and mediation activities in a new five-man board. A second board of three would handle complaints of unfair practices by labor or employer, not just labor alone, as now.

The Wagner act would be further amended to make unions democratic and to limit the closed shop to places where the union controls at least 75 per cent of the workers and is open to all members, and thus is not in itself a closed shop handing employment down from generation to generation in its own ranks, or otherwise limiting workers' rights.

Further logical limitations would cut down the number of capacious strikes now expanding in the country.

Labor could stop all the national opposition arising against it in many states where laws or constitutional changes are being advocated or enacted, to protect public interest against the unions, if they would take the mild and reasonable purposes of this bill, or alter them to suit the situation. If they would say the word to senators like Hill, the bill would go through in a minute.

Unfortunately too many labor leaders now are shortsighted reactionaries who want to defend the status quo and prevent any reform of existing unsatisfactory conditions. So it is quite possible congress will not only wait until the strike-horse runs away but the whole labor barn burns down, before taking up this key to lock the door.

Excessive use of power always kills itself by its own excesses. History is bulging with undeviating examples. Latest one is Hitler, who contrived his own defeat by carrying his power to lengths which caused an overwhelming opposition to be aroused. Statesmen, labor leaders or other humans seem unable to realize that power lasts only as long as it is wisely used.

Those who read this column weekly on the legal power built up by the Black faction of the Supreme court for unions to fix prices, realize the trend of this faction.

White Eyelet, Sheers, Organdy,
For Exquisite Summer Frocks

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THERE'S a tremendous vogue for all-white this summer. You'll find in the current collections a veritable snowdrift of white dresses made of beautiful materials, ranging from exquisite filmy sheers, organdy, lawn, dainty voile, swiss and the beloved eyelets to classic piques, linens and various other of the firm-weave whites.

Stroll around to the accessory displays and you will become increasingly conscious that designers are playing up white magic for all it is worth. Your eye will glimpse a vast showing of white jewelry with emphasis on white earrings. You will find an intriguing showing of white handbags many of which are of the new white washable plastic.

The new white footwear plays up shoe artistry in such thrilling design, glamorous white shoes become a necessary luxury this summer. The same may be said of white millinery, the supremacy of the white hat in the summer mode is style news of utmost importance. The newest gesture in white headwear is the hat made of phantom-like filmy white sheers or white horsehair. Then too white flower hats and trims are beguilingly lovely this summer, and you can get the smartest sailors ever in various type white straws. White gloves add their dainty touch to the picture.

In the illustration we are showing a trio of lovely gowns that bring a message of the outstanding importance of white eyeleted de luxe cottons for this summer. You will find the gown to the right made of white eyelet pique will prove a beautiful buy for party wear and for gay summer dances. The chic cardigan line of the jacket and cap sleeves are bound with pinwale pique. Vary the jacket with a black skirt to show its wartime versatility as a double-duty dress.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Narrow Silhouette

An interesting thing about this season's print frocks is that they are styled in such versatile ways introducing new silhouettes that give zest to the mode. A glowing instance of the trend to launch "something new" and strikingly distinctive in styling technique for the summer print is seen in the attractive model pictured. In this gown selected from a collection of mid-summer styles by Chicago Fashion Industries the emphasis is on a narrow silhouette skirt contrasted by a decided tunic flare about the hips. This lovely-lady print frock will be outstanding wherever it goes.

There's News in Hat
That's Merely a Brim

Designed especially for summer comfort are the new half-hats made of starched pique. The unique part of it is the hat isn't all there. The crown is missing, and for a good reason. You have all the appearance of wearing a hat, without the discomfort of too much hat on a torrid summer day. These little headpieces are one of the big success fashions of the season because of their practicality as well as their flattering ways. Some are so designed they can be laid out flat for ironing. They certainly keep pace with "the style" being designed in cloches, off-face types, Dutch bonnet effects, and other becoming versions. One of the smartest half-hats has no brim at all in front, but at the back there is a down-over-the-hair flange flaring from the fitted headband that shows the influence of the favorite fisherman type.

New Frocks Featuring
Braidwork, Embroidery

Braidwork and embroidery is being artfully featured on thin spun rayon dresses also summer jacket suits. The modes are in lovely pastels or even more to be admired—subtle off-whites. Enormous patch pockets, all-over braided in exact tone of the dress, are seen on many a stunning frock. Sometimes the bow tie at the throat also is correspondingly braided. Too lovely for words are frocks of fine chambray, the jackets or bodice tops of which are all-over braided in white.

Broomstick Skirts

One of the biggest fads of the season in the campus group is the broomstick skirt. Girls with an eye to fashion and thrift are making their own this summer. The skirts are usually made of pastel chintz, but any light-weight curtain materials will do. Another trick is to seam two large print squares together, gathering the top into a belt.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

WAR'S GREATEST SAGA

When the final history of the war is told, one of its greatest chapters will describe that branch of the service totally new to war—the Air Transport command. Transporting prime ministers and presidents, wounded men, jeeps and Pat Hurley's Cadillac over oceans and deserts has now become commonplace news to the American public. But behind that commonplace news is a thrilling story of painstaking, back-breaking pioneering.

Here are some things few people know about the Air Transport command:

Most used air route in the world is not between Washington and New York, not between New York and Chicago, but over "The Hump" between China and India. . . . Traffic over this world's highest mountain range, the Himalayas, is so heavy that planes travel at different altitudes so there will be no collisions. One plane will have orders to fly at 22,000 feet, another at 23,000, and so on. Three or four different air routes are used across the Hump, also to avoid collisions.

Next most heavily used air route is across the North Atlantic. The ATC sends a plane across the Atlantic every 58 seconds. That's about as fast as traffic moves on the Pennsylvania railroad between New York and Philadelphia, busiest rail line in the world. . . . The ATC is now flying returning troops across the Atlantic at a rate of 50,000 per month. . . . For years, ATC pilots have been briefed on how to land on the difficult airports of Greenland, Iceland or China. Now the ATC has the tremendous thrill of briefing pilots on arriving at home ports—Boston, Portland, Long Island. . . . Pilots say that no briefing was ever more welcome.

From Battle Fronts.

More than 220,000 wounded men have been carried in ATC planes away from the battle front. During the early stages of Okinawa fighting, planes swooped down on makeshift runways, taxied up to ambulances, took off right under the noses of Jap guns. Stretchers were loaded aboard while the planes refueled. . . . One big ATC job has been getting crashed fliers out of the Himalayas. Amazing fact is that 75 per cent are saved. . . . Lt. Gen. Harold George, boss of the ATC, realized in advance that crashes would be heavy over the Hump, so men were given special training on how to live in the jungles. They were even taken to jungle outposts to get familiar with the jungle before they hopped. . . . Every plane flying the Hump has a small tin chest (with its own parachute) containing medicine, snake-bite, antidote, water purifier, concentrated food, signal flares, mirrors, mosquito nets, etc. This chest is kept near the plane's door. If the crew has to jump, the chest is kicked out before the last man leaves the plane. . . . In the jungle, crews are taught to stay where they are until sighted by rescue planes which signal instructions as to where they can be picked up. . . . Natives are usually friendly and the chances of getting rescued from the jungle are far better than if a flier drops over the desert or in the sea.

Japs Shot Down Many.

The Japs shot down many ATC planes early in the war by painting their DC-4s with U. S. insignia. . . . Flying up close, the Japs waited until they had perfect targets, then fired. . . . U. S. planes had to be repainted.

Before Pearl Harbor, Roosevelt ordered special fighter planes rushed to the British in Egypt where Rommel had General Montgomery's back to the wall. . . . However, fighter planes couldn't make the long trek across Africa without refueling and there was no airport in the heart of the continent. . . . One day an American engineer was dropped off a plane almost in the center of Africa, in French territory not far from the Sudan. He had his pockets stuffed with money, and his head stuffed with ideas. That was about all. He also had instructions to build an airport. . . . Six weeks later the ATC came back and he had a 4,500-foot sodded runway in fairly good shape. He had drafted most of the camels and most of the natives in that part of Africa and paid them plenty to do the job. Fighter planes immediately began crossing to the Egyptian front and the British army staged its comeback. . . . Today the French are making diplomatic inquiries as to this airport, apparently with a view to taking it over.

Fifty Million Letters.

Fifty million letters were flown by the ATC to Europe in April. This peak load has now dropped off due to troop transfers out of Europe, but the ATC has been the largest mail carrier in history. . . . Also it runs the world's largest hotel chain. It must be prepared to handle 1,000 men a night at Natal, Brazil, also feed them. ATC hotels are scattered all over the world to handle ferrying and combat pilots. . . . When the weather is bad, hotel facilities overflow.

guest performances, and have her uncle, who has been ill for so long, brought to one of them. Joan as the mother of lovely young Judy Ann, aged 1½, is a different person from the talented singer and pianist the public knows; she'd like to spend a lot more time with that young lady if she could. But she's tied to "The Hit Parade" for years to come.

It's nothing new for Director Mitchell Leisen to lend his own belongings as props for pictures. He did it for the eighth time for "Masquerade in Mexico," when Dorothy Lamour had to be shown with a lot of smart luggage. The property department couldn't supply matched bags, wardrobe cases and a steamer trunk—so you'll see Dorothy surrounded by Mr. Leisen's very expensive traveling kit.

Alexis Smith wound up her role in "The Two Mrs. Carrrolls" at Warner Bros. on a Saturday afternoon, and immediately walked across the studio lot to begin work in "Night and Day," based on the life and music of Cole Porter; she's seen as Mrs. Porter.

For three years Metro has been grooming Jacqueline White for big things; she was signed up right out of college, and has had just one picture role, in "Song of Russia." She gets her first big role in "The Yearling," playing opposite Gregory Peck.

"Queen for a Day," the Cinderella show aired daily over Mutual, will become a picture; Ed Golden's bought the film rights, and it will be released through United Artists. In case you haven't heard the show, it's the one on which a queen for a day is chosen from the studio audience, and then is given her every wish. In the picture the Queen will probably drop in on various movie stars.

Two famous mysteries, written in the last century, will reach the screen by way of the Warner Bros. studio. They're by Wilkie Collins. One is "Woman in White," the other is "The Moonstone"—and they're better than many a modern whodunit.

Rise Stevens takes another step up the ladder with that new radio show of hers that is the summer replacement for "Information Please." And it's a novel idea to have a different musical director each week, from one of the leading motion picture companies.

Several weeks ago Lulu McConnell, feminine star of the hilarious "It Pays to Be Ignorant," was ordered to a hospital by her doctor. She was a good patient till Friday came; then she defied doctors and nurses, got up and dressed, and was off to the studio for her broadcast. Like the show's other stars, she's an old-timer in the theater. "When I can't get to the broadcast, I'll be dead," she told Tom Howard.

Weary apartment seekers in Hollywood rejoiced when a sign "Apartment for Rent," was hung outside one of the buildings of the Monogram studio that faces the street. Gale Storm was to do a scene for "The Gay Nineties," inspecting the sign—but before camera crews could get there the street was so crowded that it took half an hour for an assistant director to convince them that it was just for a picture.

ODDS AND ENDS—Jane Withers will probably have her own air show in the fall, a show just for young people. . . . Alice Faye may abandon movies completely, and do an air show with her husband, Phil Harris. . . . Hi Brown, producer-director of "Inner Sanctum," has directed over 15,000 broadcasts, and during one year had 35 of his own shows on the air. . . . The Ray Bolger show, replacing the Jimmy Durante-Garry Moore one, has a staggering line-up of stars signed for the summer and early fall. . . . Judy Canova's husband left for overseas when their baby was two weeks old—but the proud parents drank a toast to the baby.

Heap Salad Bowls With Vitamins For Summer

Help Yourself to Vitamins: This pretty as a picture salad bowl is made simply by alternating rows of lettuce wedges and mounds of potato salad, garnished with slices of hard-cooked eggs. It's hearty enough for a main dish, even without meat.

Summer is the time to heap high the salad bowl and bring generous portions of nature's bounty of vitamins and minerals to the table.

Active summer play and strenuous work calls for big servings of health and energy producing foods. That's why the salad bowls play a major role in the menu parade.

There's another reason, too, why salads are going to be important this season. When the butcher has no meat and the cupboard yields nothing of interest to the home-maker, she can always go to her refrigerator and bring out lovely greens, juicy fruits and berries, toss them together and serve an eye-appealing salad. If more substantial salads are desired, especially for main dishes, they can be flecked with the white and gold of protein-rich eggs, unrationed, luscious bits of chicken or well chilled and subtly seasoned fish.

Vary the trimmings and change the dressing, and no salad can ever become monotonous. If oils and fats for salad dressings are scarce, put them together with sour cream, fruit juices, vinegar or cooked dressings that require little fat.

Here are two main dish salads that will go over big with the family. One stars eggs and the other chicken:

Star Deviled Eggs. (12 Eggs)

- 12 hard-cooked eggs
- 2 tablespoons salad dressing
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1½ teaspoons mustard
- 1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper

Remove shells from eggs. Cut a slice from both ends, cutting the slice at the round end deep enough to expose the yolk. Cut deep gashes into the egg white around the rounded end to give a saw tooth edge.

Pressing gently at the bottom, force out the yolk. Press yolk and egg white that was cut off through the sieve. Add remaining ingredients and beat until smooth. Refill shells. Garnish tops if desired.

To serve as a salad, lay on top of sprigs of watercress or other greens. Or, use as a garnish for other salad platters.

*Buffet Chicken Salad. (Serves 8)

- 2 cups cubed, cooked chicken
- ¼ cup french dressing
- 4 cups boiled rice, chilled

Lynn Says

Different Salad Dressings: If fruits and vegetables do not give enough variety to make salads interesting, season the dressing itself for flavor plus.

Club Dressing: To 1 cup of mayonnaise, add 1 tablespoon chopped currants, 1 tablespoon chopped raisins, 1 tablespoon chopped nuts.

Indian Dressing: ¼ cup of chow-chow to 1 cup mayonnaise. Tartar Dressing is excellent on fish salads. To 1 cup mayonnaise, add 2 tablespoons chopped sweet gherkins, 1 tablespoon capers, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley and 2 tablespoons chopped olives.

Thousand Island Dressing is easily tossed together. For a cup of mayonnaise, use ¼ cup chili sauce, 1 tablespoon green pepper and chopped stuffed olives.

Egg dressing is lovely to look at when made by adding 1 chopped hard-cooked egg, 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento and 1 tablespoon India relish to 1 cup mayonnaise.

A bit of leftover meat? Add it to the eggs. Especially good are diced ham, tongue or dried beef.

Lynn Chambers' Point-Easy Menus

- *Buffet Chicken Salad
- Sliced Tomatoes and Cucumbers
- Potato Chips Pickles and Olives
- Orange Rolls or Biscuits
- Fresh Berries with Cream
- Refrigerator Cookies
- Beverage
- *Recipe given.

- Salt and pepper to taste
- Boiled dressing or mayonnaise
- Lettuce or greens
- Jellied cranberry sauce
- Deviled eggs

Combine chicken and french dressing. Chill about 1 hour. Meanwhile cook rice until fluffy and season well according to taste. Just before serving combine chicken, chilled rice and enough salad dressing to moisten. Season. Arrange in individual lettuce cups on platter or salad bowl. Garnish with thick slices of cranberry sauce and deviled eggs. Top with additional dressing, if desired.

There's nothing so cooling on a warm summer night than a jellied tomato salad. Although this recipe provides for a simple salad, it may be varied by adding leftover or chopped, fresh vegetables to it.

Jellied Tomato Salad. (Serves 10)

- 1 quart hot, stewed tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 packages of lemon flavored gelatin
- ½ cup sliced, pickled onions or 1 teaspoon onion juice
- ¼ cup sliced stuffed olives
- ¼ cup diced green pepper
- 1 cup diced celery

Dissolve gelatin in hot tomatoes. Add salt and cool. When gelatin begins to congeal, add the remaining ingredients. Place in a large mold, rinsed with cold water, or in individual molds. Chill until firm. Serve on salad greens with either french dressing or mayonnaise.

A fruity salad doubles for the desert, if so desired. This one is especially good when served with tiny cakes or finger cookies:

Ocean Breeze Salad. (Serves 6)

- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 cups diced honeydew melon
- 1 cup watermelon balls or slices
- ¾ cup white grapes, split and seeded
- 1 cup grapefruit sections
- 3 tablespoons preserved ginger
- 1½ tablespoons gelatin
- ¼ cup cold water
- ¼ cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons chopped maraschino cherries

Mix gelatin and water and let stand 5 minutes. Dissolve over hot water. Combine fruits, lemon juice, sugar and ginger. Chill thoroughly. Add gelatin and pour into a mold. Chill until firm. If it is obtainable, ½ pint whipped cream may be added to fruits before they are mixed with the gelatin.

Green, White and Gold: As picturesque as a garden in full bloom is this simple salad made by placing chilled deviled eggs on crisp sprigs of watercress. Use extra dressing if desired, and serve for luncheon or side dish at garden supper.

Your salad can be better than just "passing" if your dressings are smooth and well seasoned so they can complement the other ingredients of the salad bowl. Here are several good basic suggestions:

Cooked Dressing.

- ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup vinegar
- ½ cup evaporated milk
- ½ teaspoon salt

Dissolve sugar in vinegar and stir until it dissolves. Beat in milk until mixture thickens. Pour over cabbage or other greens.

Sour Cream Dressing.

- ½ cup sour cream
- ½ cup vinegar
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt

Mix ingredients in order given. Chill.

Thousand Island Dressing.

- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons chili sauce
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons pimiento
- 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle

Mix all ingredients in order given. Serve over vegetable salads.

HONORARY DEGREES FOR 1945

Wenkel, Thaddeus Z. — Citizen extraordinary: During the entire period of the war you at no time sought, through patronage of underground restaurants, to secure choice oversized steaks on meatless days. You never tried to outwit your neighbor at the butcher market. Furthermore you ate more fish than any man in your community, and didn't demand that it be cooked in butter. We award you the best degree in the house, that of PGS (Patriot and Good Sport). And we are glad to throw in a box of cigars.

Powsley, Wilmer K. — Outstanding American: You are one of the few men in the country who has never blasted WPB. You consistently gave it as your opinion, "I think it has one of the toughest jobs in the land. I'd hate to have to solve its problems." Help yourself to any degree you like and will you stay for a hot dog?

Abercrombie, Jarvis X. — Public official unique: Although occupying high political office, you have never vilified critics, denounced the press, set yourself up as the last word on all subjects or favored spending five dollars where one would suffice. Furthermore you were tolerant, gracious, hard-working and efficient, even when the photographers were not around. We confer on you the degree of Public Servant Extraordinary, in three colors and with red coupons attached.

Whelk, Amos R. — Wottaman! Asked to serve as a judge on one of those radio programs airing the misfortunes of simple people on the radio you indignantly refused, stating vehemently that you thought the use of the air waves to make spectacles of people in distress and befuddlement (even when they seemed to like the hookup) was cheap, tawdry and inexcusable. Have one of our best degrees and help yourself to anything else within our control. You are a man among men.

Jones, Felix M. — Among the citizens of this great country you are a standout. A clerk in a business serving the general public, you have, despite the war, behaved as if customers were welcome. You have retained your prewar smile, tried earnestly to retain goodwill and on only one occasion did you treat a patron as if he were a bum. (On that occasion he was, in fact, a bum.) It is our pleasure to give you a degree in four colors, and how are you fixed for cash?

Popps, Zeke Z. — A business man who knew very well that your frequent trips to the big city were not vital, you cut them out in order to make the problem of transportation and hotel rooms for servicemen less complicated. Furthermore you did it without boasting. And, getting the same results by phone, you refrained from bawling out the toll line operator in case of slight delays. You get the large sized sheepskin and two mint juleps.

ELMER RECALLS IKE'S BASEBALL DAYS

"I played pro baseball in the Kansas State league once under the name of Wilson. Never mind what position; that's one of my secrets." —General Eisenhower.)

"I remember the general well in that Kansas league," declared Elmer Twitchell, eminent baseball fan today. "He played any and all positions, and, brother, could he sock!"

"He had everything, including a great head. The first time I ever saw him play ball I said he would go far. Of course, I ain't claiming I knew he would go as far as Africa and Europe."

"Among other things, Ike was a smart pitcher. He had a fast one that's never been equalled. It was the same one he used against the Schickelgruber Giants the last three seasons."

"And he had a change of pace. His slow ball would break right across the middle just when the batter had decided to let it go past. How he fooled the Kraut batters this last summer with that one."

"Ike could play shortstop, too. He was fast and he would go after everything. He was a deadly pegger, too. Look at how he threw out 'Bonehead' Hitler in the last game of the series with the bases full."

Can You Remember: Away back when people didn't think the vice presidency was very important? And back when any men anywhere, before voting a strike or slowdown, would first make sure that they would have the public with them?

Mussolini's imperial Pullman which often took him to those Brenner Pass huddles is now in the hands of the Allies in Rome. What to do with it is a problem. Why not turn it over to the G.I.s for crap games exclusively?

Pineapple Runner to Crochet

A LOVELY 11-inch pineapple square that can be used as a separate doily, as a place mat, or three or more squares can be joined together to make a buffet runner or a long dining table centerpiece. Crochet it in either white or ecru thread.

Old-fashioned iron skillet are better for frying and braising than bright, light-weight frying pans. They hold the heat better and cook more evenly.

If you loathe breakfast-rushing, then before leaving the kitchen after supper set out the percolator, one or two pans, cereal, measuring cup, glasses and dishes. It will give you a flying start in the morning.

Nail polish remover is very effective in removing the marks left after adhesive tape has been pulled from the skin.

A stiff steel brush will remove hardened earth from hoes, rakes and spades. This, followed with steel wool and a final wiping with an oily rag, will usually keep garden tools from rusting.

Save chicken and turkey feathers to make pillows, comforters and mattress pads when the busy summer season is over. Strip the soft sides of large feathers and discard the stiff quills. Soak feathers in lukewarm soapy water containing ammonia, and scour well. Rinse in warm clear water, drain and dry in a breeze.

WE LOSE OUR LAST BROTHER

When death came to Francis Marion Davis at 10 o'clock Friday night, July 6, 1945, at his home near Memphis, Tenn., it robbed the managing editor of this paper of the last of his twelve brothers and sisters and left him the last, lone survivor of his family of thirteen brothers and sisters.

Born on October 19, 1859, the deceased had reached the advanced age of 85 years, 8 months and 17 days and had thus attained the longest life of any of his family or as far as known, any of his ancestry. He was twice married, his first wife, Nell Bowden, and their two infant sons dying many years ago. His second wife, nee Goldie Simmons, and their daughter, now Mrs. Ross H. Doty, and three little grandchildren survive him.

In the summer of 1937, he and his wife, their daughter and husband, Ross H. Doty, and their little daughter, Mary Frances, visited the editor and family here—the only visit the editor ever had from one of his immediate family in the nearly fifty years of his residence in Texas.

One by one this writer has seen the last of his ties of brotherhood shattered and broken by death's inexorable hand, and it would not be human not to be grieved. But there is comfort in the reflection that he had attained a full life, had finished his race and through all his years had kept his faith that right finally prevails. Unassuming, unpretentious but strict in his integrity, we do not believe there was ever a finer moral character. To what greater achievement could man aspire? How better attain the plaudits—"Well done!"

To those who will miss him most, the wife, the daughter and the three little grandchildren, to each and all of whom he was passionately devoted, our heart goes out in deepest sympathy.

SHOULDER LOOPS OKAYED

Because of the clothing shortage, enlisted men who buy officer's shirts at the post exchange now may wear them without removing the shoulder straps, according to information from the Eighth Service Command.

DISCHARGED SERGEANT TO LIVE IN HONDO

M. Sgt. Harold W. McCauley, 126-point veteran of the Pacific who has been mustered out of the service at Hondo Field, plans to make his home in Hondo until the war is over and then return to Hawaii "and use my war bonds to start me in business."

Sgt. McCauley, who was post exchange supervisor at Oahu Army Air Field in Hawaii when the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor, married a PX employee, the daughter of a prominent Hawaiian family. His wife and year-old son now live in Hondo. Pending his later return to Hawaii to go into the jewelry business, the 28-year-old non-commissioned officer hopes to work as a civilian employee of the Hondo Field post exchange.

The sergeant leaving the Army took with him more than $1,000 in War Bonds, together with a carton of hard-to-get cigarettes.

The Eric, Pa., veteran, completing four year of service, escaped uninjured when the Japs attacked Hawaii Dec. 7, 1941, while many of his fellow soldiers were wounded and killed. In 1943 he participated in the invasion of Makin Island and the Gilberts.

WEEKLY RECORDED CONCERTS START THIS WEEK

Recorded musical concerts opened on a weekly schedule Wednesday night at Hondo Field's library.

First Lt. Donald W. Almon, combat returnee officer assigned to the Personnel Services office, announced that a program of classical music would be presented at the library every Wednesday night from 8 to 9 o'clock.

If interest in the concerts justifies it, he said, a second concert each week, probably on Sunday, would be scheduled.

Cpl. Ben Clauch conducts the Wednesday night transcribed concerts, using records from the complete library of classics available at the library.

SING-SONG HELD

A brief sing-song was conducted for the pleasure of moviegoers Tuesday night at the Post Theater.

Pfc. Fred Reese led the songfest, the accompanist being Pvt. Phil Garretto, accordionist, who is a new addition to the entertainment staff of the Service Club radiroom's Coffee Club which broadcasts daily a half-hour program for the field's personnel exclusively.

The sing-songs will be staged intermittently, sandwiching them in between the "bouncing ball" movie short subjects.

Jack Mullen arrived last Monday from Chicago for a week's stay here and then left Saturday evening accompanied by his wife and two children, Mary Margaret and Dennis Pat, who spent five weeks visiting Mrs. Mullen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zerr and family. Maurice J. Zerr accompanied them as far as Chicago for a three-day visit before reporting to Notre Dame for completion of his Navy V12 training. He has been attending University of New Mexico at Albuquerque, N. M., for the last 15 months.

Ens. Edward Mechler of the U. S. Coast Guard is visiting his wife, the former Naomi Steinle, at Dunlay and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mechler, at Southon, this week. He will leave Saturday for his new station at Charleston, S. C. He was formerly stationed at New Orleans and temporarily at Baltimore, Md.

Ernest Mumme called at this office Friday and ordered the home paper sent to his son, Pvt. Alfred Mumme, who is stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash. Another son, Milton, who entered the Marine Corps the same time his brother joined the Army, is in South Carolina.

FARMERS TO BENEFIT from new telephone developments

The telephone company is preparing a wide-range program to extend and improve farm telephone service. The goal is to bring telephone service to the greatest possible number of farm families.

Before the war, new devices and methods to serve rural areas were being tested and developed. Among them are stronger wire that takes fewer poles, a new type of wire to bury underground, a way to send telephone conversations over electric power lines, and possibly a radiotelephone system to reach outlying regions.

Just as soon as the war permits, we'll be hard at work on the farm job. It's not a new job—nearly 400,000 farm families have had telephones put in since 1940. But there's room for many more, and room for improvement. We're exploring every means of making farm telephone service better and easier to get.
